

STRATEGY FOR week commencing 24 May To my loyal visitors. This weeks strategy has been affected by the significant losses incurred from Crypto stocks Marathon Holdings and RIOT Blockchain which were liquidated after the sharpe falls experienced. Many people who deal never admit to their failures. In this instance it was time to dispose of each share so being able to return for another day. Cryptos are extremely volatile and like cigarettes should be respected, highly risky and cover a health warning. Not all that glitters is always gold and for this week its review time with one looking to nurse the portfolio back to health after the devastating last weeks pounding. Sovereign Countries are beginning to see the threat and banning of these currencies. Even Elon Musk has cancelled the ability to buy TESLA cars with cryptos. Next week I hope to return to a more valuable assessment as usual. In the words of 007 'Never say Die' Kind regards. Until Next Week.
